Free Medical ID Offer for SSC Students and Employees through Dec 17

Students and employees at Seminole State College have an opportunity to enroll in a free program that uploads your medical information and provides emergency contact information that can be accessed by emergency responders through the internet.

Invisible Bracelet is a Tulsa based company that has created a virtual medical ID that offers patient identification and emergency notification. The service, which normally costs $10 per person annually, is being piloted as a community project in Seminole. The free program is being offered to emergency services personnel and students at Seminole Public Schools, as well as the College.

The free offer is valid for students and employees at SSC through Friday, Dec. 17. To participate in this program, pick up an enrollment packet in the Ben and Bonnie Walkingstick Student Services Center. Employees should see Human Resources Director Courtney Jones in the Business Office. Students (current and incoming enrollees) may pick up packets from Melinda Sims in the Vice President for Student Affairs Office.

Packets are available for immediate family members, as well as for yourself. Once a packet is received, a complete registration can be filed out online in about five to ten minutes. No credit card or other financial information will be asked to be provided. At the end of one year, service from the program can be continued by paying the $10 fee.

The College was included in this pilot project through its association with Melvin Moran and Reggie Whitten, along with CEO of Invisible Bracelet Noah Roberts.
